

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A vertical non-volatile semiconductor memory cell and an associated manufacturing method in which a trench extension, which has a third dielectric layer and a filler material, is 5 formed underneath the vertical semiconductor memory cell with its first dielectric layer, its charge storage layer, its second dielectric layer and its control layer. In this way, the data retention properties and a coupling factor are improved.